DECOLUT	'I (
RESOLUT	ION
Directing certain officials of the exec	cutive branch to provide information to the House of R	epresentatives that will enable the House to meet its con	stitutional responsibility

Whereas on October 18, 2016, then-candidate Donald J. Trump communicated via Twitter: "I will Make Our Government Honest Again—believe me. But first, I'm going to have to #DrainTheSwamp in DC"; to conduct oversight of the executive branch by investigating potential conflicts of interests of President Donald J. Trump.

- Whereas President Trump subsequently nominated a team of wealthy and connected insiders to lead his Cabinet, many of whom have been forced to withdraw from consideration because of irrevocable conflicts of interest;
- Whereas as President-Elect, President Trump announced that he would be "leaving [his] great business" to his adult children, a move he felt would be "visually important";
- Whereas President Trump has taken no steps to untangle his financial interest in his business holdings, to limit his ability to advise the nominal managers of the Trump Organization, or to prevent other interests from currying favor with the White House by doing business with companies that might benefit the President's bottom line;
- Whereas President Trump has reversed White House policy and now refuses to release visitor logs to the public;
- Whereas on May 30, 2014, President Trump stated: "If I decide to run for office, I'll produce my tax returns, absolutely";
- Whereas on January 24, 2016, President Trump stated that he would release his "very big returns . . . in the next period of time";
- Whereas on February 25, 2016, President Trump changed his position and stated that, although he could not release his tax returns while under audit, he would do so "as soon as the audit is done";
- Whereas on May 11, 2016, President Trump communicated via Twitter: "In interview I told @AP that my taxes are under routine audit and I would release my tax returns when audit is complete, not after election!";

- Whereas on January 22, 2017, White House senior adviser Kellyanne Conway stated that "the White House response is that he's not going to release his returns";
- Whereas President Trump has directed the Congress to act on comprehensive reform of the Internal Revenue Code;
- Whereas without the President's tax returns, the public cannot know how the full extent to which any proposed reforms will personally benefit the President;
- Whereas on January 11, 2017, President Trump insisted that he has "no dealings with Russia";
- Whereas it has been widely reported that President Trump sought and received funding from Russian investors, especially when American banks stopped lending to him after his multiple bankruptcies;
- Whereas Donald Trump Jr., who runs day-to-day business operations for his father's companies, has stated: "Russians make up a pretty disproportionate cross-section of a lot of our assets. We see a lot of money pouring in from Russia";
- Whereas on March 20, 2017, James B. Comey, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, confirmed the existence of a Federal investigation into multiple connections between the Trump campaign and the regime of Russian President Vladimir Putin;
- Whereas it has been reported that President Trump has personally guaranteed over $300,000,000 in loans to German financial institution Deutsche Bank AG;
- Whereas the Trump Administration is now responsible for overseeing multiple investigations into the trading and lending practices of Deutsche Bank AG, and for negoti-

- ating a potentially multibillion-dollar settlement with the bank related to its trading of mortgage-backed securities;
- Whereas these matters represent only a few of the many instances in which President Trump has broken his promise to "drain the swamp";
- Whereas under the Constitution of the United States, Congress has a responsibility to conduct oversight of the executive branch;
- Whereas the majority of the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform of the House of Representatives rejected an amendment to the Committee's oversight plan that would have tasked the Committee with investigating the President's conflicts of interest;
- Whereas Members of the Committees on Energy and Commerce, Foreign Affairs, the Judiciary, Homeland Security, and Ways and Means of the House of Representatives have each advanced resolutions of inquiry designed to obtain information about the President's ongoing conflicts of interest;
- Whereas the majority has blocked each of those resolutions from consideration on the House floor;
- Whereas the continuing refusal of the majority to conduct even basic oversight of the Trump Administration diminishes the status of the Congress as a co-equal branch of Government; and
- Whereas this continued neglect undermines the credibility of the House of Representatives and raises a question of the privileges of the House; Now, therefore, be it
